Hey Nick

The earlier email actually included language saying where we invited people to join us “as our guest.” We got way ahead of ourselves. It was meant to be a save the date only.

For the Treasures lunch, since it’s our major fundraising event, we only invite electeds, chiefs of staff and GMs to come as our guests. So we put this out to prevent people from thinking they are being comp’ed.

Again, sorry for the confusion.

John

Hey Nick

The earlier email actually included language saying where we invited people to join us “as our guest.” We got way ahead of ourselves. It was meant to be a save the date only.

For the Treasures lunch, since it’s our major fundraising event, we only invite electeds, chiefs of staff and GMs to come as our guests. So we put this out to prevent people from thinking they are being comp’ed.

Again, sorry for the confusion.

Haha, shit happens :)

Clarification email was a bit unclear though as it didn't explain why the first email was an issue and the rest of the email looked pretty much the same. I'll assume I haven't been the only one to reply and be like 'huh?'
